

Motives and Periods

University of British Columbia

June 5–12, 2006

The conference is intended to cover recent developments in the study of motives and periods with an emphasis to the connections to physics, arithmetic and algebraic cycles. The conference has an instructional component which consists of a series of survey talks. The conference will provide an opportunity for young speakers to present their results.

UBC rose garden. Photo by taken by Misha Bawa.

Main speakers:

Spencer Bloch (U. Chicago)
Pierre Colmez (U. Paris)
Kazuya Kato (Kyoto U.) (tentative)
Dirk Kreimer (IHES)
Marc Levine (Northeastern U.)
Madhav Nori (U. Chicago)

Conference organizers:

Jim Carrell (UBC)
James D. Lewis (U. Alberta)
Stefan Müller-Stach (Universität Mainz)
Andreas Rosenschon (U. Buffalo)
Pramath Sastry (U. Toronto)

For more information please see

<http://www.pims.math.ca/science/2006/06motives/>